

¿Did you know?

The Bañado La Estrella, covering 400,000 hectares, is the second largest wetland in Argentina. It's flooded for most of the year due to rain and the overflow of the Pilcomayo River. It's also part of the "ECOTOURISM CORRIDOR OF THE COAST" and the "NATURAL ROUTE - GRAN CHACO" program. In 2019, it received the title of Natural Wonder of Argentina, joining a select group of seven destinations recognized for their unmatched nature.

¿How to get there?

PROVINCIAL ROUTE N° 28

This is a paved road that runs through Bañado La Estrella from north to south over a 900 m long viaduct, considered one of the most important hydrological works in the north of the country. It allows uninterrupted traffic between National Routes N° 81 and 86, connecting the towns of Las Lomitas and Posta Cambio Zalazar. Along this route, you'll find the landfill area and a rest stop equipped with great infrastructure, which includes an exclusive dining room, restrooms, Wi-Fi, barbecue areas, a playground for kids, and a space for families to camp.

PROVINCIAL ROUTE N° 32

This is the wildest, most unique area with the best connection to nature. This road takes you to the town of Fortín La Soledad, located about 70 km from Las Lomitas, one of the best spots to appreciate the vastness of the wetland. The fort grew as the marshland expanded. Today, around 80 families live there, raising cows, pigs, goats, sheep, and vegetable gardens. You can enjoy boat or canoe rides, birdwatching, and hiking there.
